

Equipping you and your family with the right skills and knowledge to prevent, identify, and react to security threats.

OUR SERVICE

Being prepared is the first step in creating a safe and secure environment for your family.

Our services provide you and your loved ones with the knowledge and skills to make adept judgments and decisions regarding your safety promptly. Being credibly informed by leading professionals, with knowledge above that of the general public, gives you a huge advantage against potential vulnerabilities.

Our training and awareness courses are all professionally and individually designed with proven solutions to strengthen learning. The training can be delivered at our office, your home, or remotely, either in person or virtually.

Our team has a long-standing passion for security awareness and training. With a strong background in adult and age-related education across a range of specialist subjects, including family security training, you can rest assured that any training delivered will appropriately develop your security to meet your bespoke needs.

COURSE COVERS:

- Principles of security
- Situational awareness
- Judgement of potential threats
